LEIPZIG, BERLIN UND WIEN:
F. A. BROCKHAUS.

1873.

Verbindung von Kunst und Industrie ist ein Losungswort unserer Zeit.

Die bildenden Künste gewinnen eine immer steigende Bedeutung in unserm modernen Culturleben und werden allmählich wieder zu einem fast ebenso wichtigen Factor desselben, als dies in den glänzendsten Epochen der Antike und der Renaissance der Fall war. Wie in diesen Perioden herrscht auch jetzt das Bestreben, Allem und Jedem, von dem gewöhnlichsten Geräthe des täglichen Gebrauchs in der Hütte des Armen bis zum Schmuck der Paläste, Stil und schöne Form zu geben.

Die grossen Industrieausstellungen der letzten Jahrzehnte haben in dieser Beziehung vielfach angeregt, und namentlich waren die beiden letzten Weltausstellungen (1862 in London und 1867 in Paris) von bedeutender Wirkung auf die Verallgemeinerung des Strebens nach Geschmacks- und Formenbildung in der Gewerbeindustrie. Die Gründung von Muster- und Zeichenschulen sowie technischen Fortbildungsanstalten, die Einrichtung von Vorbildersammlungen und Museen legt Zeugniss ab von dem tiefempfundenen Bedürfniss nach einem rüstigen Vorwärtsschreiten in dieser Richtung.

Jeder einzelne Industrielle, welcher nicht zurückbleiben will, sieht sich im eigensten Interesse veranlasst, diesem rastlosen Streben nach neuen Formen und Gestaltungen innerhalb der mannichfachsten Industrieerzeugnisse vom einfachsten Gebrauchsgegenstand bis zum reichsten Luxusartikel aufmerksam zu folgen.

Als ein Mittel zur Erleichterung eines solchen Strebens führt sich das vorliegende Werk ein, indem es in seinen zahlreichen Abbildungen Gegenstände aus den verschiedensten Zweigen der Industrie und Kunst zur Anschauung bringt.

Die Verlagshandlung veröffentlichte aus Anlass der beiden grossen Weltausstellungen illustrirte Kataloge. Die Zugabe des ausführlichen beschreibenden Textes sowie die bedeutenden Herstellungskosten jener grossen Illustrationswerke bedingten hohe Verkaufspreise, und wenn sich diese Werke auch einer ausserordentlich günstigen Aufnahme zu erfreuen hatten, so war doch der Preis immerhin ein Hinderniss, um den damit verbundenen Zweck, durch Vorführung wirklich universeller Musterbücher zur Verallgemeinerung künstlerischen Geschmacks nach Möglichkeit beizutragen, in vollem Masse zu erreichen.

In gegenwärtigem Werke findet sich nun das reiche, von jenen beiden Ausstellungen gelieferte Material zu seinem grössten Theil in gedrängterer Form vereinigt und zu einem so billigen Preise dargeboten, dass dasselbe einem Jeden zugänglich wird.

Zur richtigen Würdigung des Standpunkts, von welchem aus diese Sammlung zu betrachten ist, muss darauf hingewiesen werden, dass dieselbe überhaupt nicht mit der Prätension auftritt, lediglich stilgerechte Zeichnungen vorzuführen.

Seinem Ursprung nach ist an das Werk nicht der Anspruch zu stellen von Entwürfen, welche nach einheitlichem Plane hergestellt wurden, sondern es bringt Abbildungen von Gegenständen, welche in Wirklichkeit schon ausgeführt wurden, von Erzeugnissen der Industrie, welche in Handel und Verkehr vorkommen. Die Abbildungen stellen insgesammt Gegenstände dar, welche auf jenen beiden internationalen Ausstellungen befindlich und zwar von Ausstellern aus den verschiedensten Ländern nach London und Paris gesandt waren, sodass also das Werk die Kunstindustrie sämmtlicher Culturstaaten der Gegenwart repräsentirt und deshalb zugleich ein umfassendes Bild der Industrie aller Nationen gewährt.

Hierdurch erklärt sich sehr leicht die Verschiedenartigkeit, welche sich innerhalb der Auffassung und Formenbildung der dargestellten Gegenstände kund gibt; sind ja doch die Geschmacksrichtungen so vielen individuellen und örtlichen Einflüssen unterworfen, dass dem einen als minder ansprechend erscheint, was der andere als künstlerisch vollberechtigt erkennt. Ist dies schon in engerm Kreise der Fall, wie viel mehr muss es hervortreten in einem Werke, welches wie das gegenwärtige in seinen Abbildungen das Kunstgewerbe in den verschiedensten Ländern mit repräsentirt.

Wie ein jedes allgemeine Museum Gegenstände von verschiedenem Werthe umfasst, ebenso mag dies im vorliegenden „Museum“ der Fall sein. Jedenfalls ist aber in der grossen Reichhaltigkeit von Abbildungen Gelegenheit zu Vergleichung vorhandener und zur Combination neuer Muster geboten, und so wird das Werk als Ideen-Magazin durch seinen Formenreichthum den Industriellen der verschiedensten Zweige gewiss von praktischem Nutzen sein.
